2022 Notable Impact Highlights

Overview

CleanFiber Inc manufactures next-generation cellulose insulation for use in attics, walls and floors of residential or commercial new construction, and retrofit applications. Our unique technology allows us to produce a high quality product with lower levels of dust and contamination than conventional cellulose insulation.

Workforce

Key Stakeholders

CleanFiber's production facility is in an economically distressed part of Buffalo and seeks to recruit employees from the surrounding area.

Customer Difference

Cleaner, more efficient to install product. An estimate of 1531 homes were insulated last year with CleanFiber product.

Supply Chain/Procurement

We use a waste as a raw material and turn it into high-performance carbon negative insulation. Our goal regarding procurement is to source as much raw material as possible from local sources.

Challenging "Business as Usual"

CleanFiber is producing a superior product and using a waste material to reduce CO2 while insulating homes thereby reducing overall energy consumption and cost to consumers.
