

NDN FUND

2022 Notable Impact Highlights

Overview

NDN Collective is designed to Defend, Develop, and Decolonize Indigenous Peoples, communities, and Nations, while fostering a world built on a foundational belief of justice and equity for all people and the planet. By working across these three pillars - individually, in tandem, and at the intersection of all three, NDN Collective recognizes the opportunities created by defending, developing, and decolonizing our peoples and planet in a fluid and mutually reinforcing way that recognizes the synergy across each individualized space as well as the power created where they overlap. This is an ecosystem approach to building Indigenous power and self-determination.

NDN Fund, an emerging national Native Community Development Financial Institution (NCDFI), is the impact investing arm of NDN Collective. It's rooted in resilient and regenerative Indigenous lending principles and provides large-scale debt capital and capacity building to Indigenous-led and community-based development projects in Indian Country. NDN Fund partners with other parts of the NDN Collective ecosystem to provide integrated capital solutions that build Indigenous power.
