Primary Stakeholders

1. Our technology helps measure, improve, and ensure more equitable outcomes for people of diverse, marginalized, and traditionally under-represented backgrounds. In doing so we help those people feel seen, heard, valued, and respected and this has a long term positive impact on their socio-economic and their overall health and wellbeing.

2. By spreading empathy and understanding at scale we also impact the families and communities beyond our primary stakeholders.

Customer Difference

Comprehensive data & analytics on the intersectional identities and lived experiences of the participants.

Customers/End Users Reached Last Year

Approx 20,000. 20% Low income, 70% medium, 10% high. More often than not our customers/end users would be considered traditionally underserved.

Challenging "Business as Usual"

We are democratizing access to live group facilitated learning experiences and unlocking the true potential of people by tapping into the power of vulnerability and empathy in the workplace.

Natalie Egan (our founder) is a trans woman who actively creates representation for the trans community. She regularly speaks at events, on panels, and gives back to the TGNC community by donating her time to destigmatize the trans identity in schools and the workplace.

*BIPOC = Black, Indigenous, People of Color. GNC = Gender Nonconforming
